VETERANS OF OLD TURNER RIFLES ARE GUESTS AT DINNER

Eighth Battalion Holds Its Fifty-first Anniversary Banquet.

With eight of the members of the old Turners Rifles or Lincoln bodyguard present and with three other living veterans remembered though present, the Eighth Battalion held its fifty-first anniversary banquet at the Columbia Turnverein. The patriotism shown and service rendered by the German citizens who formed the battalion and railied to the defense of the District and protected President Abraham Lincoln, formed the themes of the after-dinner speeches of Congressman Richard Bartholdt, the toastmaster, and the other speakers.

Covers were laid for fifty-six diners by A. E. Knuppel, the house steward of the turnvercin. Of this number the eight veterans occupied seats of

The civil war veterans at the feast The civil war veterans at the feast were William Reith, president; John J. Lerch, vice president: Ernest Ruppert, Louis Kettler, Rudolph Saur, John A. Seller, Jacob Karr, and Charles Hartmann. Attorney L. P. Henninghausen, of Baltimore, was included among the list of speakers arranged for last night, sent a letter of regret. Caspar Runz, Philip Dittrich, and Henry Kuhn whose infirmities prevented them from meeting with their old comrades were remembered in the speeches.

Battle Flag Shown. The battle flag and emblem of the old Turner Rifles, with staffs crossed, formed the background against which portrait of President Lincoln, whom the veterans protected, was displayed at the head of the room. Flags and cut flowers in profusion completed the effective decorations of the banquiet hall.

Congressman Bartholdt gave a slight political turn to his remarks when he referred to the plan of recall of Judges and review of legal decisions as a menace to the principles on which this Government was founded and has prospered. But his speech and the others dealt for the most part with the influence and work of the German citizenship throughout the entire history of the United States in forming and furthering the Government along broad and safe lines of democracy and the representative principle.

The list of speakers included Capt. J. J. Knapp. U. S. N., the department commander for the District of Columbia of the United Spanish War Veterans; Ernest Gichner, who gave in German the greetings of the Columbia Turnverein to the veterans; William F. Gude, and Col. John A. Joyce, who gave extracts from his own poems.

The thanks of the veterans for the honors paid them were expressed by Rudolph Saur. A life membership cer tificate in the Turnverein, the gift of the Columbia Turnverein, was presented to Jacob Karr, of the veteran corps.

Musicians from the Marine Band, led by Siegfried Scharbau, furnished music. Chairman E. F. Jurgensen, A. R. Meissner, and Bernhard Endres, who comprised the committee of arrangements, received congratulations from veterans and other guests alike on the complete and other guests alike on the complete success of the fifty-first anniversary banquet of the old Turner Riffes, the Association of the Eighth Battalion of the District of Columbia Volunteers.

The guests, besides the veterans, were:

Mrs. Hichborn Seeks To Settle Son's Estate

Letters of administration on estate of Philip S. Hichborn, the Washington clubman and lawyer, who committed suicide on March 22, because his wife. Eleanor M. Hichborn, eloped with Horace Wylle, are sought in Probate Court by Mrs. Jennie M. Hichborn mother of the young man.

It is stated in the petition that one of the three heirs-at-law is Mrs. Eleanor M. Hichborn, "who is absent from the city, and whose address is unknown." The other two heirs are Philip Hichborn, a son, born September 22, 1907, and Mrs. Martha H. Pearsall, a sister, at whose home the suicide occurred.

The petition estimates the value of the estate at about $30,000, consisting principally of stocks and bonds and interest in reality under the terms of the will of his father. At the time of his death, the petition states, Mr. Highborn had on deposit $393.82 in the Washington Loan and Trust Company, and $459.30 in the United States Trust Company. of the three heirs-at-law is Mrs.

Mrs. Hichborn asked for the appoint-ment of William Henry Dennis as state, and that no formality, beyond the posting of sentinals will be observed.

Telegrams of condolence continue to be received by the widow and family of General Grant. Among the first received were those from President Taft, Secretary of War Stimson, Senator Root, Gen. Leonard Wood, Admiral Dewey and Col. Theodore Roosevelt. Gets Three Sentences YET DECIDED UPON Princess Cantacuzene-Speranskey of Russia, Daughter of Officer, Coming.

Pending word from the family of Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, no definate ararrangements by the War authorities for the military funeral for General Grant have been completed. It was stated at the office of Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the Army, that no officers in the Army had yet been formally named to represent the War Department at the funeral. Besides the officers who will repre sent the War Department, a group of officials and private friends of General Grant will be in New York to attend the ceremonies. Members of the Army and Navy Club, of Washington, of which General Grant long had been a member, will be present at the ceremonies.

The final plans for the funeral have been postponed in New York, pending dual of a daughter of Speranskey, of Russia. The brother of General Grant, Gen. U. S. Grant, II., is expected to arrive in New York from San Diego, Cal., during the early part of next week. It is probable that the

NESBITT, ALLEGED EMBEZZLER, SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Former President of Canadian Bank in Cell in Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 13.-Denouncing his errest as a part of a criminal conspiracy arrest as a part of a criminal conspiracy worked out against him by his enemies in Toronto and denying that he profited in any way by the failure of the Farmers' Bank of Toronto, of which he was president, William Beattle Nesbitt, through his attorney, W. K. Pattison, today declared he would fight extradition. He will put forth every effort to prevent being taken back to the Canadian capital.

Although accused of embezzling a quarter of a million dollars, Nesbitt, according to counsel employed by him today, could not have profited by the bank's cash. His sole offense under the hanking laws of the Dominion was a technical violation in making report to the government examiner. This, his lawyer says, cannot under any circumstances be constructed as perjury, the charge under which he will be extradited, if he is taken to Canada.

"Dr. Nesbitt was the innocent victim of the wrongdoing of others whom he trusted." said Attorney Pattison today. "Some of these men have already been incarcerated. Nesbitt was but the figure head in the bank. He knew nothing of its finances, and as president simply certified the reports to the government. The reports were made out by other officials. Nesbitt was but the figure head in the bank. He knew nothing of its finances, and as president simply certified the reports to the government. The reports were made out by other officials. Nesbitt was the field to the United States; he could not stand the strain of great.

In the two years that he has been a fugitive Nesbitt has wandered all over the United States, he declared that he did not take a dollar of the bank's money for himself, but held himself responsible for the loss to depositors and stockholders because of his neglect in placing confidence in others. Today he sat in a cell in the county jail. He toyed with a miniature model of an invention which, he says, as to establish him in the esteem of his fellow-Canadians, and which would have enabled him to make good all the bank's losses. This intention is a wheat shocker, for which he had, through a third person, made application for patent.

Would Make Restitution.

Would Make Restitution.

Because he cursed a man who refused him a match, Raiph Curtis landed in District branch of Police Court today and was fined $45 on three charges with alternate sentences totaling five months in Occoquan. Curtis has been employed as a chauffeur in a garage. Last night he stopped his car and asked A. W. Nelson for a match. Nelson who was accompanied by his wife, told the defendant he had no match. Curtis then gave Nelson a vile name and the latter made complaint to the police. "My plans to make restitution have been destroyed just as I thought they would be realized," he said to the jailer today as he showed his models. "I got the idea for this as I wandered through the ranchtes of Wyoming. It will be a Godsend to farmers, and it would have been the means of repaying those whom my shortshightedness wronged."

Nesbitt was very much downcast over his arrest. He refused to see anyone. His lawyers stated that he would take no legal action in his behalf until they and the latter made complaint to the police.

It was found Curtis was operating without a permit and the car he was driving did not display its registration number. These two with disorderly charges were preferred against him today. Judge James L. Pugh fined him today. Judge James L. Pugh fined him today. Judge James L. Pugh fined him and imposed fines of $10 each or thirty and imposed fines of the other charges.

RANGER'S ZEAL IS COSTLY TO SUPERIOR

Costs In Prosecution Are To Be Paid By Forester Ralph C. Huey.

Deputy Forest Supervisor Ralph C. Huey, in charge of the national reserve in the Ozark mountains, will lose $42.85, as a result of the zeal of the forest rangers in prosecuting Henry J. Baysinger, for alleged fire trespass.

Charges were brought against Baysinger in the Federal courts for the castern district of Arkansas, but the charge was dismissed on the ground that the Federal statutes did not apply. On their own responsibility the forest men brought charges in a justice court, under the State law. Huey to get a hearing had to give bonds for costs. The case was decided in Baysinger's favor, and the voucher for costs was sent to the Department of Agriculture for payment of $42.55. Comptroller Tracewell decided today that the United States was not liable for the prosecution and could not be made to pay. castern district of Arkansas, but the made to pay.

Washingtonian Named To National Academy

H. Hobart Nichols, the painter, was elected today to the National Academy of Design, in New York. He is the first native of Washington to have been accorded that honor. Nichols left Washington several years ago to enter the field of art in New York city. His work rapidly gained recognition and he is placed today in the highest rank of American landscape painters.

SOCIALISM FLAYED BY MISSOURI RABBI IN STIRRING SPEECH

Judaism Will Survive Modernism, Declares Rev. Mayer at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, April 13.-Expressing the conviction that Judaism will survive, despite the inroads of modernism and socialism, and the new thought, and prophesying that all men will soon acknowledge that through Israel alone is "the voice of the Lord with pewer," Rabbi Harry H. Mayer, of Kansas City, is "the voice of the Lord with power," ison Avenue Temple last night. The address was delivered at the Sabbath service which formally opened the Twentythird annual convention of the Central Conference of American Rabbia.

"The weakness of modern sociology," said Rabbi Mayer, "is that times it tends to play into the hands of socialism. The Hebrew prophets escaped this pitfall by supplementing the preachment of social justice with the doctrine of inof social justice with the doctrine of in-dividual rightousness as the inescapable condition that must precede the reign of social justice.

"The modern socialists," said the rab-bi, "fall into the error of regarding individual righteousness not as a con-dition antecedent to, but a condition consequent upon social regeneration."

at Tennessee Ave. and C St. N. E.

(After First Cash Payment)

You owe it to yourself to see these homes—NOW, while you have the opportunity to become the owner of one and pay for it with the money that you are wasting for rent each month.

They are situated on a 120 foot wide avenue in one of the city's best residential sections and enjoy excellent car service.

These homes are very spacious—are three rooms deep upstairs as well as downstairs. The floors are parquetry and the trimmings throughout are hardwood. The fixtures, mantelpieces, etc., are unusually artistic and the refined elegance of each room is greatly enhanced by the most beautiful wall paper decorations imaginable.

Some features that you should particularly note are: the superb art glass dome and large cabinet mantle with china cupboard and drawers, which adorn the dining rooms. Then there is the roomy kitchen with the side oven gas range and the big pantry with outside closet. A roomy porch and large, light cellar, stationary washtubs and convenient outside entry ways. The rear yard is good and deep and runs back to a 15 ft. alley, with paved walks the entire length and genuine cedar fence posts. There is ample closet space wherever there should be closets. The front bedroom enjoys a full length mirror door. We must not forget the bath room. It is beautifully appointed with mahogany finished woodwork and nickel fittings. The floor and side walls are tiled. The value and desirability of these homes are greatly enhanced because of the fact that they are only one square and a half north of beautiful Lincoln Park, the beauty spot of the northeast. The ground on which these houses are built was secured by the builder at a time when there were a number of small, dilapidated frames across the street that were a drawback to the square.

The owner has since purchased this square, torn down the objectionable frames and is soon to improve it with handsome residences, which, instead of leaving it in its former undesirable shape, will make it one of the most attractive squares in this section.

Pressed brick fronts and handsome colonial porches.

No. 251 Tennessee Avenue Northeast is completed and open for inspection every day until 9 p. m. See it at once. There are only sixteen of these houses and they will sell in short order.

To inspect, take Lincoln Park car line, get off at Lincoln Park and Tennessee avenue and walk one square and a half north to C street.
